ACM Special Interest Group on Hypertext, Hypermedia and the Web

SIGWEB supports the multi-disciplinary field of hypertext and hypermedia, facilitating its application both on the World-Wide Web and also in independent, distributed and stand-alone environments. It provides a forum for the promotion, dissemination, and exchange of ideas concerning research and applications among scientists, systems designers and end-users.

Formerly known as SIGLINK, the ACM Special Interest Group on Hypertext, Hypermedia and Web addresses the concerns of the multi-disciplinary field of hypertext and hypermedia. It provides a forum for the promotion, dissemination, and exchange of ideas concerning research technologies and applications among scientists, systems, designers, and end users.

SIGWEB Member Benefits

Being a member of SIGWEB provides you many benefits and services.

- All SIGWEB members have access to ACM DL content of events sponsored by SIGWEB such as ACM Hypertext Conference (HT) and ACM Symposium on Document Engineering (DocEng).
- Discounts on conferences, publications, and videos All SIGWEB members get reduced rates at SIGWEB sponsored, co- sponsored, and co-operating events; All SIGWEB members get reduced subscription rates to New Review of Hypermedia and Multimedia.
- All SIGWEB members get a free subscription to the SIGWEB members email list, with calls, advance and final event programs, and news of interest to the community posted regularly.

The ACM Special Interest Group on Hypertext, Hypermedia and the Web (SIGWEB) supports the multi-disciplinary field of hypermedia and other network-based approaches to modeling knowledge, including the World Wide Web. SIGWEB conferences provide opportunities for the promotion, dissemination, and exchange of ideas concerning research and application among scientists, practitioners, and users, with an emphasis on the development of methodologies and standards and the promotion of consensus within the field.

The Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) is an educational and scientific computing society which works to advance computing as a science and a profession. Benefits include subscriptions to Communications of the ACM, MemberNet, TechNews and CareerNews, plus full access to the Guide to Computing Literature, thousands of free online courses and books, discounts on conferences and the option to subscribe to the ACM Digital Library.
